An immersive experience in Cevenol civilisation. A museum that relates Cevenol landscapes, history and memories.

Description

The Maison Rouge is a former 19th-century silk-spinning mill that has been entirely restored and extended with a new gallery to house the new museum of the Cevenol valleys. Its almost 2,500 sq m of exhibition space present both the remarkable heritage of the Maison Rouge industrial site and the large collections of the Museum of the Cevenol Valleys.

Once you have crossed the vast gardens, the visit starts on the spinning-mill's monumental staircase. It then proceeds in the prestigious historical building and its contemporary extension, revealing Cevenol identities of the past and present through its interpretation of the history of the Cévennes and its built landscape.

This is a detailed topographic map of Saint-Jean-du-Gard, France. The map shows the Gardon de Saint-Jean river flowing through the town. Key roads include the RTE d'ARBOUSSE, RTE DE LA CONICHE DES CEVENNES, and RTE DE LAZRAU. Local landmarks such as the Collège, École, Poste, and various churches are marked. The map also shows the surrounding landscape with green fields and some wooded areas. A yellow circle highlights a specific location on the map, near the intersection of the Gardon de Saint-Jean and the RTE DE LA CONICHE DES CEVENNES. The map includes a compass rose in the top left corner and a scale bar (100m) in the bottom left corner. The map is sourced from IGN - GeoPortail.
